Curriculum Resource

Code Free Website Design for Beginners

This is an introductory, 3-unit course on website design, with learners using the free website design program Word Press. This course encourages learners to be as creative as possible, with each part of a website broken down into purpose, things to consider, best practices and accessibility considerations. At the end of the course, the learners will have an optional activity to complete, demonstrating the skills they learned and having it reviewed by their practitioner.
